City Sustainable Development Strategies and SDGs

Professor Iryna Zapatrina, doctor of economics, President of the Academy of PPP, Chairman of the Board of the Ukrainian PPP Development Support Center

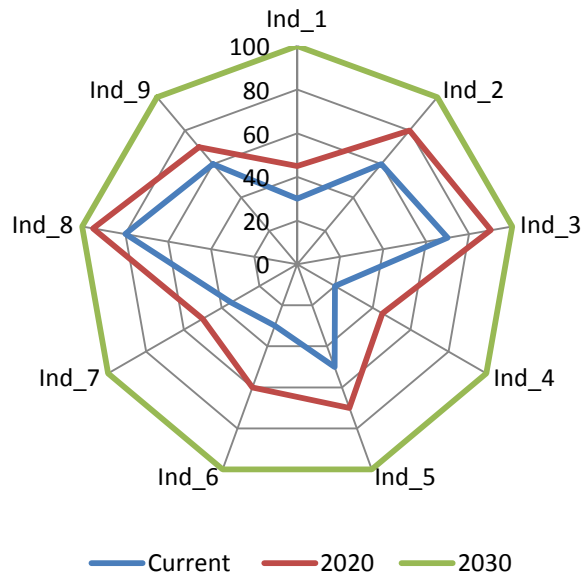

City Development Strategies: why they should be adopted for SDGs?

- ❑ SDG 11 and some other SDGs set clear indicators for Smart & Sustainable Cities for 2030 that are oriented mainly on quality of life in cities
- ❑ Values for these indicators are different for different cities (depending on regions, population, types of economy etc.). At the same time the minimal level for each of them could be defined
- ❑ To achieve SDGs up to 2030 including SDG 11 city authorities and citizens should know: where they are now in the context of SDGs? Which SDGs indicators are more difficult to achieve? Which infrastructure is more critical for achievement of SDGs?

Conclusions: Cities Development Strategies should be:

- based on SDG 11 indicators
- consider time frame up to 2030
- be inclusive
