Evidence-based Policy on People—first PPPs and Innovative Financing
SDGs a New Development Paradigm

We believe that everyone in the development community should be an honest broker who helps find win-win outcomes – where owners of capital get a reasonable return, and developing countries maximize sustainable investments. There’s never been a better time to find those win-win solutions.

The trillions of dollars sitting on the side lines, earning little interest, and the investors looking for better opportunities should be mobilized to help us meet the exploding aspirations of people all over the world.
