III. Lessons learnt and conclusions

Lessons learnt

- Paper-based survey is more costly
- Permanent census stations at a supervisor's office are less effective
- Five days are not sufficient for a web-based census

Conclusions

- It is necessary to start using a tablet computer
- Extend the duration of the web-based survey from 5 days up to 15 days
- Improve the questionnaire form
- Organize permanent work of enumerators at census areas
- Provide more training to the census personnel

IV. Preparations to the Population Census

Regulatory and methodological documents are updated

Census departments were opened in all districts and cities

District and city census departments were provided with maps to organize the work of registrars
