DETA:

- certificates
- information documents
- test reports and others
- summary documents

NEW →

With the UI, presently required information on the product may no longer be present, but is available in DETA to only users with access rights. Persons without DETA access will get this information via a new “summary document” made available by a public web portal. (The approval number and some attributes are also available by the public web portal without a summary document).

To which UN Regulations the UI marking applies? - Guidance by GRs requested!

1958 Agreement Revision 3 Schedule 5 “... the approval markings required by UN Regulations may be replaced by a Unique Identifier (UI) preceded by the symbol (UI), unless specified otherwise in the UN Regulations.”

The UI feature is being developed. The GRs are requested to provide clarity on UI markings to support a uniform implementation across the UN Regulations and the Contracting Parties.

Therefore, as agreed by WP.29-188, the GRs are invited to review the list of regulations under their purview. This list, once finalized and approved, could provide an overview to all stakeholders, when UI markings can be used. See informal document GRXX-XXX-XXe.
