Draft programme of work of the Forests and the Forest
Industry subprogramme for 2024*Note by the SecretariatSummary*

The present document sets out the draft programme of work of the Forests and the Forest Industry subprogramme for 2024.

The Committee is invited to review and adopt the draft programme of work of the Forests and the Forest Industry subprogramme for 2024 and recommend it to the Executive Committee for approval.

Introduction

1. The present document sets out the draft programme of work of the Forests and the Forest Industry subprogramme (“the subprogramme”) for 2024. The Committee on Forests and the Forest Industry (“the Committee”) is invited to adopt it and recommend to the Executive Committee for approval. Any subsequent additional, carried over or terminated deliverables will be reflected in the United Nations Umoja system used by the Secretariat for planning, monitoring and reporting on the implementation of the programme.
2. The draft programme of work applies a results-based management (RBM) approach, a broad management approach which establishes logical relationship between the hierarchical results (deliverables – results - objectives – impact) known as ‘results chain’, the resources (human and financial) known as ‘inputs and the external factors (strategic, governance, operational, financial) which can prevent from achieving the objective.
3. The objective, the strategy, the planned results, and the deliverables in the draft programme of work correspond to those contained in the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (ECE) proposed programme budget for 2024 (A/78/6 (Sect.20)). The work of the subprogramme is aligned with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). In attaining its objective, the subprogramme builds on cross-sectoral collaboration with other subprogrammes in relevant ECE areas where multiple SDGs converge¹. This type of collaboration enables the subprogramme to maximize existing synergies, increase the efficiency of its work and have a multiplying effect on the impact of its actions to support countries to implement SDGs. The deliverables of the subprogramme fall into the following main categories: (a) facilitation of the intergovernmental process and expert bodies; (b) generation and transfer of knowledge, including technical cooperation projects, training events, seminars, workshops, and publications; (c) other substantive deliverables, and (d) communication deliverables.
4. The details of the proposed publications are provided in Annex I. The overall ECE legislative mandates and those specific for the subprogramme are listed in Annex II.

I. Objective

5. The objective, to which this subprogramme contributes, is to strengthen the sustainable management of forests and enhance the contribution of forests and forest products to sustainable development in the ECE region.

II. Strategy

6. The responsibility for the subprogramme is vested in the Forests, Land and Housing Division.
7. The strategy of the subprogramme is based on the implementation of the core interlinked functions, namely, analytical and normative work, international policy dialogue, capacity-building and communication.
8. To contribute to the objective, the subprogramme will:
 - (a) Promote cooperation among member States, regional entities and other partners for sustainable forest management, forest landscape restoration, the sustainable use of forest products and services, linkages between sustainable food systems and forests, and urban and peri-urban forestry;

¹ The ECE cross-sectoral collaboration areas are as follows: 1) Digital and green transformations for sustainable development in the ECE region; 2) Circular economy and the sustainable use of natural resources; 3) Sustainable and smart cities for all ages; 4) Sustainable mobility and smart connectivity; and 5) Measuring and monitoring progress towards achieving the SDGs.

(b) Collect, validate and disseminate information, research and analysis related to sustainable forest management and the sustainable production and consumption of wood products, including wood energy;

(c) Facilitate the exchange of national experiences and best practices and monitor progress on achieving sustainable forest management using indicators for Sustainable Development Goals 12 and 15, which will help member States to measure progress towards achieving the Goals and provide an indirect indication of progress under the United Nations strategic plan for forests 2017–2030;

(d) Organize capacity-building seminars and webinars and prepare dedicated publications on the forest sector and wood energy, including on crisis response and on solutions for more resilient economies.

9. The above-mentioned work is expected to result in:

(a) The ability of ECE member States to sustainably manage healthy forest ecosystems in order to provide important ecosystem goods and services to benefit society, including climate mitigation and adaptation;

(b) Increased and more efficient use by ECE member States of sustainable forest products that contribute to the circular economy and the sustainable use of natural resources, with increased use of renewable raw materials to replace less sustainable alternatives;

(c) The integration of forest resources and products into planning and recovery from economic, health and environmental shocks, including COVID-19 recovery, to increase the resilience of member States and their most vulnerable persons.

III. Planned results for 2024

Result 1: increased access to forest product information to support evidence-led policymaking for the sustainable production and consumption of forest products

Programme performance in 2022 and target for 2024

10. The subprogramme’s work contributed to updated information on a cumulative total of 41 key forest product commodities, which exceeded the planned target of 39 key forest product commodities.

11. Progress towards the objective and the target for 2024 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 1).

Performance measure: number of wood-based commodities assessments available to member States with specific information regarding their production, trade and consumption (cumulative)

Result 2: enhanced accessibility and timeliness of sustainable forest management information and improved monitoring of the impact of increased wood use in a circular economy

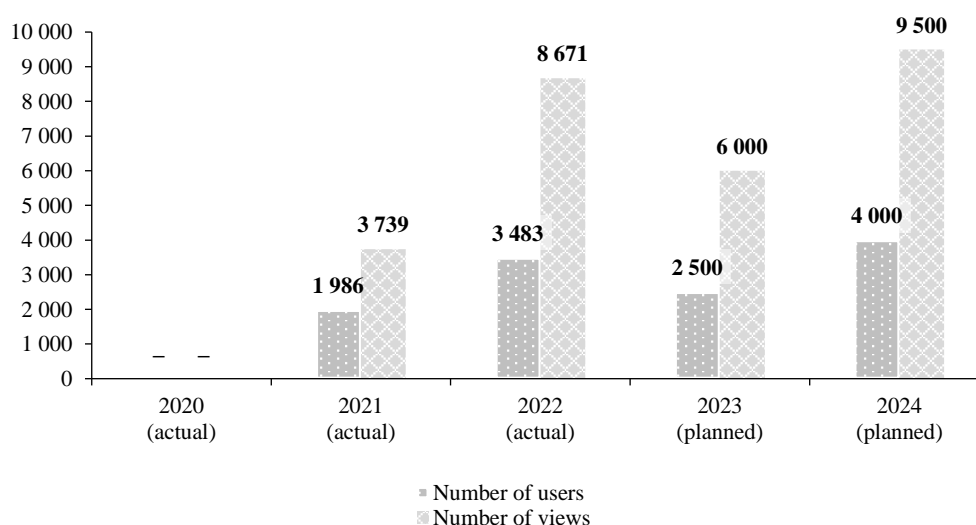

Programme performance in 2022 and target for 2024

12. The subprogramme’s work contributed to 3,483 public users and 8,671 views of up-to-date data on sustainable forest management from the INForest platform that is accessible to persons with disabilities, which exceeded both the planned target of 2,250 public users and the planned target of 5,000 views.

13. Progress towards the objective and the target for 2024 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 2).

Performance measure: number of public users and number of views of up-to-date data on sustainable forest management from the INForest platform that is accessible to persons with disabilities (cumulative)

Result 3: cities and towns commit themselves to expanding sustainable urban and peri-urban forest cover

Proposed programme plan for 2024

14. Sustainable urban forests are increasingly recognized as important components of more liveable, healthier and more resilient cities and towns. Since 2019, the subprogramme has developed substantive materials, established an informal network of experts and created a Trees in Cities Challenge to engage with local and national policymakers to have them commit themselves to sustainable urban forest management and tree planting pledges.

Lessons learned and planned change

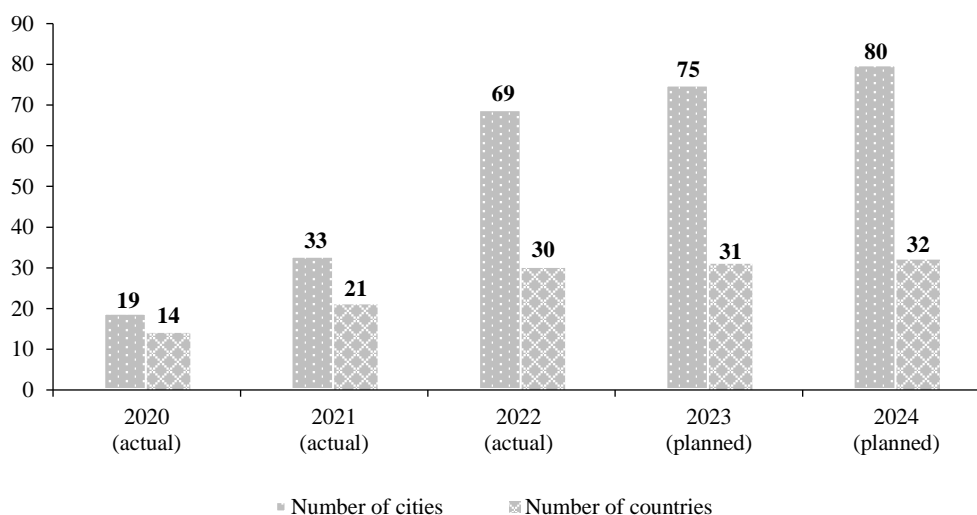

15. The lesson for the subprogramme was that targeted outreach to cities, when combined with substantive guidance materials and collaboration (e.g., financial incentives, maintenance or management, as well as opportunities for peer exchange), is the most effective approach to encourage local and national policymakers to commit themselves to increasing sustainable urban tree and forest cover. In applying the lesson, the subprogramme will strengthen the exchange among cities, policymakers and experts through more informal network events, targeted campaigns and needs-based substantive materials for local and national action. The subprogramme will tailor activities and support on the basis of unique needs and challenges faced by cities and towns and the diverse benefits of urban trees and forests such as the mitigation of floods, reduced heat islands and energy consumption, improved physical and mental health and improved air quality. The subprogramme will also develop guidance and resources focused on the integrated, long-term planning and management of urban and peri-urban forests as a cost-effective nature-based solution² for sustainable development.

16. Expected progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see figure 3).

Performance measure: number of cities and towns making pledges and commitments to increasing sustainable urban tree and forest cover (cumulative)

IV. External factors

17. The subprogramme is expected to achieve its objective on the assumption that there is continued:

- (a) active country and stakeholder participation;
- (b) partnership with the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, including the provision of staff and non-staff resources, to implement the integrated ECE/FAO programme in this field; and
- (c) in kind and voluntary contributions from member States to support the implementation of planned activities.

V. Deliverables to be implemented in 2024

18. The table below lists all deliverables of the subprogramme.

Subprogramme 7: deliverables for the period 2022–2024, by category and subcategory
